GETTING TO KNOW MR. SNAKENBERG

BY BAILEY BEINHART

I recently had the pleasure of sitting down to talk with Mr. Snakenberg. I learned some fun facts about him, and I think everyone will enjoy getting to know him as well.

"Snake," as the students call him, attended Indian Hills Community College and Buena Vista University for his undergraduate degree, and he got his Master's degree at Iowa State. He describes himself as even-tempered, loves to help people, and tries his hardest to understand people. He chose being a teacher because he loved history growing up as a child. His grandmother, Kate, grew up during the depression, which also contributed to his fascination with history. I asked him what a visitor would see if they walked in his classroom and he said, "Lots of pictures and posters from good moments of history." Mr. Snakenberg is a very patient man. I asked him if he ever gets annoyed with his students, because we all know how high school students act, and he said, "Every person wants to be heard; I just wait until I have everyone's attention to continue."

Mr. Snakenberg said he does not have a favorite class out of all the classes he teaches. They each have good parts to them. For example, in Government he loves campaign time. Mr. Snakenberg's dream job would be being a history professor at a college or a university. If he could change one thing about Keota High School, he would make sure every student took a chance and tried something new. When I asked him if he would be able to live without electronics, he said yes, so I asked him how he would grade papers. He said he would check sources for plagiarism in the library.

As we all know, Mr. and Mrs. Snakenberg are soon-to-be parents. His biggest fear of being a new parent is changing the dirty diapers, and also being a good role model for them. Their baby is due in December. I asked Mr. Snakenberg what his biggest fear was in general and he said it would be failure. He does not want to fail his child; he said he is going to work hard to be the best parent he can be.

Now for some fun facts you may or may not have known about Mr. Snakenberg. He looks up to his parents most because they have been through a lot and have not crumbled under pressure. Snake's favorite memories are spending time with family and friends, finding out he was going to be a father, and spending his summer gossiping on his grandma's front porch with the neighbors. If Snake could be on any T.V. show, it would be "The Middle". He thinks it is a very funny and down to earth show. His dream car is a 1978 Chevy Camaro. Of all the places on the earth he could live, he would pick Australia, because it is a warm and friendly place to be. If he could be any celebrity it would be James Stewart because he was a good actor, and he was a World War 2 bomber pilot, which he would love to be.

Finally, I asked Mr. Snakenberg if he would like to add any additional thoughts, and he sure did. He said he feels very blessed from his time here at Keota. "It's a very good place with lots of great people, staff, and students." Keota is also where very memorable things happened to him, such as meeting his wife and finding out he is going to be a father.

I enjoyed sitting down and learning more about one of the greatest teachers I have ever known.

BAILEY'S WORKING FOR HER FUTURE

BY MAITLAND SIEREN

Bailey Kathleen Beinhart was born on December 13, 1996. Welcoming her were her parents, Brad and Janet Beinhart, along with her two older sisters, Lindsey and Kelli. Later, the Beinhart family would welcome their youngest daughter, Kylie. Bailey admires her family because they always stick together through thick and thin. Young Bailey imagined herself as a teacher when she grew up. An accomplishment she is proud of is working since she was 16 years old. Throughout high school, Bailey has been involved in KC STAAR and volleyball. She also works at Carter's in Williamsburg during her free time. She enjoys working because she gets to help people.

After she graduates high school, Bailey plans on entering the work force. She chose this because she is undecided on her major and she wants to start making more money. In ten years, Bailey sees herself making good money, having a nice house, and hopefully the perfect family. She believes that her hard working skills will get her there. Three things Bailey wants to accomplish in her lifetime is to meet a celebrity, be successful, and be a good parent. When she graduates, Bailey will miss all the gossip she hears.

Out of all her classes while at KHS, Bailey's favorite has been Sociology, because Mr. Snakenberg makes the class fun and is a good teacher. A class that has prepared her most for life has been Psychology, because it has taught her life and people skills. She wants people to remember her as always happy, even if she is not. She also has a pet peeve, which is when people crack their bones. At Carter's, Bailey helps customers and does the tasks she is told to do. She enjoys her job because she has fun and likes to work for what she has. By working in high school, it has taught her hard work pays off.

Three words that Bailey would use to describe herself are friendly, mature, and hard-working. She wants to be remembered as always happy and someone who gets along with everyone after she graduates. Bailey's advice to future Seniors is: "Never give up, hand your homework in, and don't fall behind."

RIDE OF THE WEEK

BY BAILEY BEINHART

SCHUTTE'S AWESOME AUDI

This week's ride of the weeks is a 1999 Volkswagen Audi Quatro. Jasmine bought her car, which she named "Gerty," at a dealership in Washington, Iowa. She bought her car in May of 2014 for $1,150. I asked Jasmine if she enjoyed her car, and she replied, "Yes, my car is my baby." Jasmine said a specialty about her car is how well built the transmission is. The top speed on her car is 200 mph. When I asked if she had any good memories in her car, she said they had a blast taking it to the Iowa City fair. A bad memory Jasmine has in her car is when she got her oil changed. They overfilled it so it smelled like oil for awhile. If Jasmine could have any car in the world, she would keep the one she has now because she loves it. Jasmine's last comment on her car was, "It's the best thing that ever happened to me because it can take me places." So what do you think, is this car worthy of being the KHS Ride of the Week?
