As the end of 2016 is nearing, the Keota Senior's last Christmas break is too. Whether it affects you or not, the Keota Seniors have impacted the school as well as the community. Some seniors are known for their athletic ability, some are known for their outstanding community service, and some for holding the door open for everyone.

The Keota Seniors look upon this last Christmas break with excitement, but sometimes the reality hits them.

Kylea Tinnes, a Keota Senior says, "I'm going to miss hearing everyone talking about how excited they are to be around family. I'm especially going to miss coming back from break to hear about everyone's holidays. Can we just not graduate?"

This is their last year of watching a movie on the last day, of buying candy canes with special messages for their friends, and of decorating the doors to their Eagle Advisories. When asked, Avery Conrad, a Keota Senior, said his favorite thing to do before break is "Definitely watching the movie!" The Christmas tree is up in the lounge and all of the ornaments are labeled by names. There is an excitement in the air as the holidays creep upon us. The overall feeling of the seniors is readiness. They are ready for a long break and for that bell to ring.

The seniors have done a lot in their years at Keota, and will be remembered for their diversity and sense of humor. They will go out with a bang, with a laugh, and with their heads held high. This is just one of the many lasts that they will encounter within their senior year. We wish all of them nothing but the best as the year goes on, and to everyone, a Happy Holidays.

KHS HOLDS WINTER FINE ARTS NIGHT

The Keota Jr./Sr. High School Winter Fine Arts Night was held on Thursday, December 15. Pictured above are the Junior and Senior High choirs combining to sing "Mistletoe."

The Keota High School Chorus sang "Seasons of Love," "Going Up to Bethlehem," and "Na, Na, Na" at the Winter Fine Arts Concert.

The Keota Junior and Senior High School bands combine to play, "Do You Hear What I Hear." Pictured above are (L to R, B to F): Cullen Starbuck, Ty Sieren, Jonny Flanagan, Austin Waterhouse, Matthew Hyman, Sam Menke, Jill Schulte, AJ Sheetz, Avery Axume, Jolee Walker, Taylor Conrad, Lexi Black, and Carly Jaeger.

The Junior High Band performed "March of the Hyperion Guards" and "Drama for Your Mama."

Grace McHugh sings a solo during the EagleRock! performance.

Addison Sprouse and Avery Conrad perform their solo in "Gonna Fly Now."
